UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

TECHNICAL SERGEANT JEFFREY A. SCHINDLER

Technical Sergeant Schindler is a Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) Training Instructor for the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps, Northeast Region, Detachment 630, Kent State University, Ohio. Sergeant Schindler counsels highly qualified young men and women as prospective Air Force officers. He oversees personnel office functions for cadet records administration regarding in-processing, medical and physical testing, enlistments categorization and the cadet commissioning process. Additionally, he provides leadership training, motivation, military discipline, and educational and career guidance to Air Force ROTC cadets.

Sergeant Schindler entered the Air Force in February 2013. After completing Basic Military Training in Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, he graduated from the Air Traffic Controller course at Keesler Air Force Base, Mississippi, in July of 2013. Sergeant Schindler retrained into the Personnel career field in April 2015. His background includes various personnel and trusted leadership positions. Prior to assuming his current position in October 2021, Sergeant Schindler served as the Commander's Support Staff NCOIC at the 388th Munitions Squadron, Hill Air Force Base, Utah.
