RECREATION AND WELLNESS SERVICES MISSION STATEMENT

We build communities of belonging by encouraging well-being through inclusive leadership, recreation, and wellness experience.

RECREATION AND WELLNESS SERVICES VALUES

1. Belonging
2. Development
3. Integrity
4. Quality
5. Safety

PURPOSE OF CLUB SPORTS

The Club Sports program supports the development of athletic skills, personal interests, and community engagement through a variety of competitive sport opportunities. Open to students, faculty, and staff, the program emphasizes student leadership, teamwork, and a sense of belonging—enhancing the overall college experience through fun, inclusive, and meaningful participation.

CLUB SPORTS OVERVIEW

The goal of Recreation and Wellness Services is to meet the needs of as many Kent State University students, faculty, and staff as possible. The program currently offers 22 competitive sports for all levels of skill and experience.

Club Sports are defined as registered student organizations and will adhere to the Student Organization Handbook. Club Sports are also administratively supported by Recreation and Wellness Services; however, there is a responsibility of student leaders and members to be student-organized, student-managed, and student-operated. RecWell supports the following type of club sport:

Competitive Club Sports

Competitive club sports are student-led organizations that engage in structured competition against external opponents, such as other collegiate club teams, often through regional or national leagues. While affiliation with a National Governing Body (NGB) or sport-specific association is encouraged to enhance competitive opportunities and alignment with national standards, it is not mandatory. These clubs typically conduct tryouts, recruit student-athletes, and work with coaches or instructors to support skill development and team success. Teams often maintain a rigorous schedule, including regular practices, off-campus travel, and participation in scheduled competitions throughout the defined season. As such, involvement in competitive clubs usually requires a higher level of time commitment, organizational responsibility, and personal or team financial investment.

Competitive clubs are permitted to operate in a dual-role capacity, offering both competitive and recreational opportunities to accommodate a broader range of skill levels and interests within their membership. However, they may not function solely as recreational club sports. Maintaining the competitive integrity of the club—through structured competition, skill development, and engagement in league or tournament play—is essential to their recognition and continued operation within the competitive club sport category.

CLUB SPORTS GUIDELINES

HOW TO START A CLUB SPORT

Any student organization or club sport may be started through the Center for Student Involvement \(CSI\) process. Application Review Disclaimer

Submission of a Club Sport Application Packet does not guarantee approval. All applications are reviewed by the Department of Recreation and Wellness Services based on alignment with departmental policies, institutional resources, and overall feasibility. - Incomplete or missing required sections or documentation
- Lack of demonstrated student interest or insufficient member list
- Inadequate risk management planning or safety measures
- Insufficient detail or clarity in budget and financial planning
- Duplication of existing club sports or conflicts with current programs
- Limited facility availability or scheduling conflicts
- Noncompliance with College policies or student organization requirements
- Lack of a qualified faculty/staff advisor or executive officer structure

Applicants will be notified of the decision in writing. Feedback may be provided upon request. Resubmissions or revisions may be accepted at the discretion of the department.
