J1 Scholar Pre-Arrival Checklist

Step 1: Obtain J-1 Exchange Visitor Visa

Applications for J-1 Visas require:

- Valid unexpired passport (valid for at least six months beyond your intended stay)
- Form DS-2019
- SEVIS fee receipt
- Evidence of financial support
- Visa fee
- Recent (2 inches x 2 inches) passport-style photograph
- Additional forms and/or documents as required by the embassy/consulate at which you will apply (find your embassy/consulate at http://www.usembassy.gov/)

Additional information on visitor visas is available at the Department of State website: http://travel.state.gov/

Step 2: Pay the SEVIS Fee

What is the SEVIS Fee?

The SEVIS fee (http://www.ice.gov/sevis/i901), implemented by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), is a fee intended to defray costs associated with the administration of the Student and Exchange Visitor Program (SEVP). This rule took effect on September 1, 2004. The current fee for exchange visitors (J-1) is $200.
Who Must Pay the SEVIS Fee?

1. Students & Scholars seeking an F-1 or J-1 visa from a U.S. consulate abroad for "initial" attendance at a U.S. school
2. Students seeking a J-1 visa from a U.S. consulate abroad to commence participation in a J-1 Exchange Visitor Program
3. Persons applying for a change of status to F-1 or J-1
4. Canadians exempt from the visa requirement who are seeking entry at a U.S. port of entry for "initial" attendance at a U.S. school or Exchange Visitor Program
5. J-1 students applying for a change of program category within the U.S.
6. J-1 students transferring from fee-exempt Federal Government sponsored programs (such as Fulbright) to other J-1 programs
7. J-1 students transferring from reduced-fee J-1 programs to full-fee J-1 programs
8. J-1 students applying for reinstatement

Who Does Not Pay the SEVIS Fee?

1. J-2 dependents
2. J-1 students and J-1 scholars who are seeking an extension or transfer
3. J-1 students and J-1 scholars who have previously paid the fee and are applying for a visa to return to the U.S. as continuing students in the same course of study
4. J-1 students and J-1 scholars who have paid the fee but have been denied a visa who are reapplying for the same visa within 12 months
5. Persons who have paid the SEVIS fee but have been denied a change of status to J-1 and who are reapplying for the same status within 12 months after being granted a motion to reopen the case
6. J-1 participants in fee-exempt Federal Government-sponsored programs (such as Fulbright)
Options to Pay the SEVIS Fee

1. Electronic submission of Form I-901 to DHS using credit card or other electronic means of payment accepted by DHS: https://www.fmjfee.com
   (please visit: https://www.fmjfee.com/i901fee/ for more information )
2. File Form I-901 (available at https://www.fmjfee.com/i901fee/) with DHS by mail along with a check, money order, or foreign draft drawn on a U.S. bank and payable in U.S. currency
3. Western Union Quick Pay (See http://www.ice.gov/sevis/i901/wu_instr.htm for instructions)

You must have a DHS fee receipt before applying for a visa or change of status. Third parties may pay the fee on behalf of the student or scholar. Additional information on SEVIS I-901 Fee can be found at http://www.ice.gov/sevis/i901/faq.htm

Step 3: Assemble Immigration Documents

Form DS-2019 – also called "Certificate of Eligibility" is required to obtain a J-1 visa and used to enter the U.S. It indicates your length of stay in the U.S. on your J-1 program, authorizes you to participate in Kent State University J-1 Exchange Visitor program, and is used for travel outside and re-entry to the U.S. Scholars should keep all copies of DS-2019 issued to them.

Form I-94 – CBP (Customs and Border Protection) has automated the I-94 process for all travelers applying for admission at U.S. ports of entry. Air travelers no longer need to complete paper Form I-94. The I-94 number is used to record your arrival and departure from the U.S. Using this number, CBP authorities can determine your arrival date into the U.S., the port-of-entry and your immigration status as a J-1 visa holder. You can obtain your I-94 number by visiting https://i94.cbp.dhs.gov after you have entered the U.S.

Visa – the stamp that a U.S embassy or consulate affixes to the passport to indicate the kind of nonimmigrant status that a person is seeking. The only time you are required to have a valid visa is when you enter the U.S.

Passport – Your passport should be valid at least six months when you apply for your visa. Your passport must remain valid while in the U.S. If your passport will expire, you must contact your embassy to renew it.
Step 4: Obtain Health Insurance

The U.S. government requires all J-1 scholars and their dependents to have health insurance coverage for the entire duration of their stay in the U.S. If you are not going to utilize health insurance provided by KSU, you must provide your own insurance to ISSS within 10 days of arrival. Suggested insurance companies are listed at http://nafsa.org/resourcelibrary/default.aspx?id=8823. Your health insurance policy must meet the following minimum coverage: $100,000 per sickness or accident, $50,000 for medical evacuation, and $25,000 for repatriation of remains to your home country.

If you are a sponsored exchange visitor, you will need to provide proof of insurance from your sponsor.

Step 5: Pack Appropriately – What to Bring
