Taking Care of Self

Physical self-care*
After a trauma, it’s important to keep your body healthy and strong. You may be healing from injuries or feeling emotionally drained. Good physical health can support you through this time. Think about a time when you felt physically healthy, and consider asking yourself the following questions:

- How were you sleeping? Did you have a sleep ritual or nap pattern that made you feel more rested?
- What types of food were you eating? What meals made you feel healthy and strong?
- What types of exercise did you enjoy? Were there any particular activities that made you feel more energized?
- Did you perform certain routines? Were there activities you did to start the day off right or wind down at the end of the day?

Emotional self care*
Emotional self care means different things to different people. The key to emotional self care is being in tune with yourself. Think about a time when you felt balanced and grounded, and consider asking yourself the following questions:

- What fun or leisure activities did you enjoy? Were there events or outings that you looked forward to?
- Did you write down your thoughts in a journal or personal notebook?
- Were meditation or relaxation activities a part of your regular schedule?
- What inspirational words were you reading? Did you have a particular author or favorite website, like RAINN’s Pinterest board, to go to for inspiration?
- Who did you spend time with? Was there someone, or a group of people, that you felt safe and supported around?
- Where did you spend your time? Was there a special place, maybe outdoors or at a friend’s house, where you felt comfortable and grounded?

Visit the Recreation and Wellness Center and it’s Well Hub for physical and emotional well-being.

YOU determine when and in what manner you recover from your trauma. It is up to you to make the decisions that will be the best for you.

Know that you are not alone. There are people that can help. If you need support or have questions, call 330.672.8016 to speak with someone from SRVSS.

Support Services in Case of Sexual Violence
Your Rights

You have rights both as a Kent State Student and as a crime victim through the state of Ohio.

Campus Sexual Assault Victims’ Bill of Rights
- Survivors shall be informed of their options to notify law enforcement.
- Survivors shall be notified of counseling services.
- Survivors shall be notified of options for changing academic and living situations.
- Both parties must have the same opportunity to have others present during any investigation or hearing process.
- Both parties shall be informed of the outcome of any disciplinary proceeding.

Marsy’s Law:
You have the right to:
- Be treated with respect, fairness, and dignity throughout the criminal justice process.
- Information about the rights and services available to crime victims.
- Notification in a timely manner of major proceedings and developments in the case.
- Be notified of all changes to an offender’s status.
- Be present at court proceedings and provide input to a prosecutor before a plea deal is struck.
- Be heard at pleas or sentence proceedings or any process that may grant an offender’s release.
- Restitution.

Advocacy and Support

What is an advocate?
An advocate is someone who is trauma informed and offers independent support to those who have experienced a sexual assault, intimate partner violence, or stalking incident. Advocates assist people in accessing and understanding information and services as well as their rights within different systems. They can help you articulate your needs and empower you to take back your life.

What can an advocate do?
An Advocate can play a variety of roles, including to:
- Provide information and guidance.
- Gather and organize information and documentation.
- Attend meetings, hearings, or appointments.
- Clarify processes and procedures.
- Connect you with resources to help you find balance in your life.
- Represent your views when you feel unable to do this yourself.

There are many forms and definitions related to acts of sexual violence.

The university’s policy defines them in relation to those affiliated with Kent State.

To read the university’s policy on sexual harassment, misconduct, stalking, & intimate partner violence (5-16.2) go to: www.kent.edu/policyreg

Some broad definitions include:

Sexual Assault

Sexual assault involves sexual contact without a person’s consent. It includes acts from unwanted touching and fondling to attempted or completed rape. Sexual assault occurs when a person is unable to consent; through force, threats, intimidation, or being physically or mentally incapacitated. Alcohol or drug intoxication can produce such a state of incapacitation.

Rape

Rape is sexual intercourse without a person’s consent. It includes vaginal, anal or oral penetration with either a body part or an object.

Relationship Violence/Abuse

Sometimes called intimate partner violence, relationship violence/abuse is controlling, aggressive, or abusive behavior in an intimate relationship. Relationship violence can involve one or more types of abuse, including emotional, physical, or sexual abuse.

Stalking

Stalking is a series of actions that make a person feel afraid or in danger. It can be done by someone the victim knows well or not at all; the majority of stalkers, however, are people known to the victims.

Sexual Harassment

Sexual Harassment is unfavorable or unwelcome treatment made without consent and based on a person’s gender or sex. Harassment may become severe or pervasive and interfere with an individual’s academic/work performance or create an intimidating, hostile, or offensive environment.
