CALL TO ORDER

Chair Riley called the meeting to order at 10:00 a.m. Vice President Charlene Reed called the roll, and a quorum was present.

PROOF OF NOTICE

Chair Riley announced that public notification of the meeting was given pursuant to Ohio law and university policy.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

Chair Riley said that in accordance with Chapter 121.22, section G of the Ohio Revised Code, the Board had a need to meet in Executive Session for the purposes of: (i) considering the employment and compensation of a public employee or official [121.22(G)(1)]; (ii) considering matters of real estate for public purposes [121.22 (G)(2)]; and (iv) preparing for, conducting, or reviewing negotiations or bargaining sessions with public employees concerning their compensation or other terms and conditions of their employment [121.22 (G)(4)].

Trustee Mason moved, seconded by Trustee Bobst, that the Board retire into Executive Session. Dr. Reed took a roll call vote of the membership. By virtue of a unanimous roll call vote, the Board adjourned into Executive Session at 10:03 a.m. The session concluded at 11:15 a.m.
BOARD BUSINESS MEETING

By approval of a motion duly made and seconded, the Board returned to public session for the Board Business meeting at 11:30 a.m.

Chair Riley acknowledged several individuals in attendance: Ambassador Edward Crawford, who joined the Board for his first meeting as National Trustee; Don Brown, an alumnus and donor who would be recognized at the Ambassador Crawford College of Business and Entrepreneurship groundbreaking later that day for his generous support; Dr. Paul DiCorletto, retired vice president for research and sponsored programs, who was welcomed back to celebrate a remarkable accomplishment at Kent State; three faculty members who would be introduced further later in the meeting – Dr. Sara Bayramzadeh, Dr. Karin Coifman, and Dr. Deric Kenne; Dr. Deborah Spake, dean of the Ambassador Crawford College of Business and Entrepreneurship; and Dr. Pamela Grimm, chair of the Faculty Senate.

APPROVAL OF THE AGENDA

Chair Riley then presented the first order of business, the approval of the agenda. He asked if any of the trustees had additions or corrections to the agenda. Hearing none, the agenda was adopted by general consent.

APPROVAL OF THE MINUTES

Chair Riley next asked whether any of the trustees had additions or corrections to the minutes of the Board’s December 15, 2021, business meeting. Hearing none, approval of the minutes was added to the consent agenda.

REPORT OF THE CHAIR

On behalf of the Board, Chair Riley thanked President Diacon, faculty, staff and most of all, the students for another productive semester at Kent State University. He announced that later that day, there would be a celebration of a milestone that has been a high priority of Kent State University and its trustees since at least his early days on the Board. He expressed gratitude to Trustee Crawford and his family for providing the generous gift that put the university over the top in moving forward with construction of the magnificent, long-awaited Crawford Hall. He encouraged all present to attend the groundbreaking ceremony that afternoon.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

Chair Riley then called on President Diacon to give his report. He proudly announced that Kent State University recently was named a very high research institution (R1) of higher education in the United States as per the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education.

President Diacon observed Kent State as an R1 university is in great company, placing it among the top 146 research universities in the nation and joining institutions such as Duke, Yale, Harvard, University of California Berkeley, University of Texas, Penn State, University of Michigan, and the University of Virginia. Ohio now has five R1 institutions: Kent State and Ohio University, both new to this status; Case Western Reserve University; University of Cincinnati; and Ohio State University. In the Mid-American Conference, there are only three R1 schools: Kent State, Ohio University, and the University of Buffalo.

President Diacon said the R1 designation is really “the coin of the realm” in higher education, which means something to people who are inside the profession and instantly marks an institution as a top university in the U.S. This ranking certainly enhances the university’s ability to attract top faculty, postdoctoral researchers, and others who are deciding where they will go, he said.

President Diacon said the R1 designation is one of a growing list of honors that Kent State has received of late – Forbes ranking as the 4th Best Employer in Ohio, recognition as a finalist for the prestigious Association of Public Land-grant Universities (APLU) Degree Completion Award, and the esteemed Senator Paul Simon Award for Campus Internationalization. This year Kent State was the only four-year university in the U.S. to win this top award that recognizes excellence in global and international education, he noted. He then recognized Vice President for Global Education Marcello Fantoni for his leadership and noted that the Board will hear more about Kent State’s global vision in a future meeting of the Board of Trustees.

President Diacon added that the university was informed on March 3, 2022, that the National Security Agency (NSA) and the Department of Homeland Security designated Kent State as a National Center for Academic Excellence in Cybersecurity. This is an important national recognition of the institution’s cybersecurity program, which is housed in the College of Aeronautics and Engineering. With this designation, Kent State is part of a national effort to address the shortage of professionals with cybersecurity skills.

President Diacon then returned to the topic of the R1 designation, commenting that it is a multivariate calculation that includes the amount of external research awards that faculty earn, the number and breadth of students who graduate with doctoral degrees, per-capita research expenditures, and the number of postdoctoral researchers among other factors. Crucial to Kent State’s rise to R1 status certainly was an increase in funded research, which essentially doubled over the life of the Strategic Roadmap. Another important factor for Kent State was the number of doctoral degrees granted in non-STEM fields. During his tenure as provost, Dr. Diacon retained retired Virginia Tech Vice President for Research Brad Fenwick to conduct a research consultation on where Kent State was exceptionally strong and where it could improve in research. One of his most powerful findings was that Kent State already was a top five program in brain health research but it was not well coordinated. He recalled chairing the national search for the vice president for research and sponsored programs position, which resulted in the selection of Dr. Paul DiCorleto, who had a nationally and internationally known career as a funded researcher at the Cleveland Clinic and Case Western Reserve University. He ventured to say that Kent State would not be celebrating this success today if it were not for Dr. DiCorleto.
President Diacon then called on Dr. DiCorleto to speak. Dr. DiCorleto said he knew as a job applicant talking to President Diacon, Provost Tankersley, and to many faculty that there was a lot of excitement about the possibility of bolstering the research mission at Kent State. Most importantly in his view, was getting more undergraduates involved in research. He further stated that it is so critical for students to be involved in research and creative activities in the arts as well as the sciences to develop critical thinking that will be important for the rest of their lives regardless of what they go into. This was a great opportunity here, he said. Very early on with President Beverly Warren, they talked about moving to R1 status and he told her that it was going to take a long time. He said he was amazed and so happy that the institution received this new distinction and it really was a total Kent State community effort from the academic leadership, to the deans and department chairs, the President’s Cabinet, and the trustees approving changes in various policies and procedures that were hampering research. It was really a group effort and R1 is a distinction that the university certainly deserves, he said. It really recognizes the truth that the faculty are the ones who are doing this work and providing a great learning environment for students in laboratories and in studios and so on, he remarked. He ended by saying that he really enjoyed his time at Kent State University.

President Diacon said that as Dr. DiCorleto and he prepared for this transition, they were pleased to appoint as Interim Vice President for Research and Sponsored Programs Dr. Doug Delahanty, who was the second-in-charge under Dr. DiCorleto. President Diacon asked Dr. Delahanty to discuss the plan he was developing to keep Kent State at R1, which is a three-year calculation.

Dr. Delahanty stated that it was hard to understated how exciting it was to be part of the research office at Kent State at this time. The R1 designation is not just a reflection of the accomplishments of a small group of individuals at Kent State, it truly is an acknowledgment of all the amazing work being done across the entire institution regarding research and creative activities and all that is being performed daily on this campus, he said. The equations used to determine R1 status consider not only grants but the number of postdocs, the number of doctoral degrees conferred in four different areas—STEM, the humanities, the social sciences, and a category for “other.” He explained that while there are plenty of institutions that have multiple times the number of grant dollars Kent State brought in, they do not have the humanities doctorates the university confers, and they are an R2 institution because of that. This designation really is a full-campus effort that everybody across the entire campus should be very proud of, he said. Since receiving this designation, the question most often asked is, how will Kent State maintain this R1 designation, he said. The team has spent a lot of time figuring out equations and seeing what would be critical points of the investment that we can make to maintain this status, according to Dr. Delahanty.

The real answer is that Kent State will continue doing well at what got us to R1 in the first place, but also expanding where we can grow research and creative activity with some strategic investment, said Dr. Delahanty. He stated the university undoubtedly was going to focus on the area of most-needed growth, which is external and federal grant funding. That will propel Kent State along a trajectory much more toward the middle of R1s than any of the other investments the institution can make. To do that the university will invest in research development staff in the research office to help faculty submit the highest-quality proposals that they can do. He said the first hire will be a research development specialist who has expertise in large proposals. There are plenty of funding opportunities in the $5-10 million range where you have a critical mass of faculty doing similar things very well, he said. Kent State’s faculty in advanced materials and liquid crystals, for instance, are really poised with the addition of someone with a track record of success in getting competitive proposals of that magnitude together. The university also will hire a couple other research development staff grant writers to aid individuals and small groups of faculty. Kent State has plenty of excitement and plenty of faculty interest in submitting grants – a key is to be able to support the faculty in submitting the best-quality proposals. As President Diacon mentioned, R1 designations occur every three years. The last one was considered at the very end of 2021, so in 2024 the calculation will be conducted, he explained. Different factors in the calculation are counted at various times during this interim period. For instance, next year is when they count the number of postdocs that are present on campus and postdocs are good investment in faculty research productivity. They provide an ample means of helping people get research going and give them time to write more grants. Dr. Delahanty explained that a postdoc is someone who has graduated with the doctoral degree and who is gaining additional research experience (typically two years) prior to applying for a job in industry or in academia. In fiscal year 2023, the calculation for doctoral degrees will occur. As another example of focused attention, Dr. Delahanty now is working with the Division of Enrollment Management, the Graduate College, and the academic deans to consider different fellowships focusing on students who have not yet finished their dissertations. He commented that the ideal way of ensuring that Kent State is on a trajectory for maintaining the R1 designation is both a long-term focus while making some strategic investments in the short term. It is really the best way to ensure that we remain an institution that is really committed to access and completion, but where we can also give our students world-class research and creative activity experiences that are much more typical of elite institutions that have a much higher cost and much higher and more restrictive entrance criteria.

Dr. Delahanty noted that the main reason for optimism in this endeavor is the productivity of Kent State’s faculty who passionately pursue research funding and training of the next generation by involving undergraduate and graduate students in their labs in high numbers. In addition to the researchers who later would be joining the Board for lunch, he wanted to celebrate three of the faculty members who helped Kent State achieve R1 status. First, he introduced Dr. Sara Bayramzadeh, coordinator and Elliot Professor of the health care design program in the College of Architecture and Environmental Design, who is nationally recognized for her research on patient safety in psychiatric units and operating rooms. A recipient of the 2020 New Faculty Outstanding Research and Scholarship Award, Dr. Bayramzadeh currently is the principal (lead) investigator of a $2.5-million grant to design safer trauma rooms. Next, he introduced Dr. Deric Kenne, associate professor in the College of Public Health and associate director of the Center for Public Policy and Health, whose research focuses on adult and adolescent substance abuse prevention and treatment, community-based interventions, mental health policy, and evaluation. Dr. Kenne has secured nearly $8 million in in federal, state and local funding since coming to Kent State in 2012. He then introduced Dr. Karin Coifman, associate professor of Clinical Psychology in the Department of Psychological Sciences. Dr. Coifman’s research examines the link between emotion processing and psychological health. Her research is funded by the National Institutes of Health and the Department of Education and her work has been featured in various media outlets including MSNBC, the BBC, and very recently she was featured in an article in The Atlantic magazine on resilience during the COVID-19 pandemic. He expressed gratitude to the university’s faculty and all that they do to help Kent State achieve and maintain the R1 standard.

With that President Diacon concluded his report and asked whether anyone had any questions or comments.

Trustee Stephen Perry said that the meeting had been particularly good in highlighting the effectiveness of the university’s strategic management process. When the institution set these goals a few years ago to be R1, they were bold, audacious goals so much so that even Paul DiCorleto did not think we could get there. The same is true with the Gateway to a Distinctive Kent State Campus Master Plan. Now, the institution has the Ambassador Crawford College of Business and Entrepreneurship. To think about the fact that by setting those goals, having specific action plans, and holding ourselves accountable to achieve results is just phenomenal, he said. He further remarked that many organizations do a good job of developing a master plan but then do not do a good job of executing the master plan, so kudos to the Kent State people for coming through and achieving these fantastic goals that seemed unattainable a few years ago.

Chair Riley remarked that Trustee Perry must have been looking over his shoulder at his notes, as Trustee Perry expressed his sentiments much more eloquently than he would have and thanked him.

Trustee Johnathan Holifield then added that it was an excellent and exciting report and encouragement coming out of 3.5 years of federal service. He said it was hard to describe just how deep a well federal opportunities are across 34 agencies that really could be mined for the benefit of our students, faculty, and the people of Ohio. It is an extraordinarily deep well of funding beyond the usual suspects, he commented, and he encouraged a broad exploration at the federal level.

Trustee Riley thanked Trustee Holifield for sharing his insights and moved on to President Diacon for the report of personnel action items.

PERSONNEL ACTIONS

President Diacon called on Senior Vice President and Provost Melody Tankersley for the academic personnel action items. Dr. Tankersley reported that the personnel action items were routine in nature and included the request for emeritus status for five outstanding faculty members who have served the university well during their tenure. He next called on Senior Vice President for Finance and Administration Mark Polatajko for the non-academic personnel actions. Dr. Polatajko stated that the report stood as written with all matters being routine and customary in nature. The personnel actions were added to the consent agenda by general consent.
COMMITTEE REPORTS

Chair Riley proceeded with reports and recommendations of the standing committees. He thanked the trustees for their time given during the previous week for the electronic committee meetings. He noted that unless there were objections, the recommendations from the committees would be added to the consent agenda and the Board would vote with one motion on all items. At the end of each report, he would ask if any trustees had any objections or wanted to remove any item from the consent agenda for further discussion, he said.

Chair Riley first called on Trustee Addicott to present the report of the External Relations and Philanthropy Committee.

Trustee Addicott went on to share that the committee received information on the naming actions under $100,000 approved by President Diacon. In total, the naming actions that Vice President Vargo shared at the meeting represent more than $2.4 million given in support of entrepreneurship and student athletes at Kent State.

She stated that the committee also was presented with the most recent fundraising and campaign update from Vice President Vargo. To date $321.4 million had been given under the Forever Brighter Comprehensive Campaign, including $129.6 million to support student success the university's primary fundraising priority, thus surpassing the goal. We now are more than 92% of our way to the campaign's total goal of $350 million. For the current fiscal year, the university has raised more than $67.4 million. When two large transformational gifts received by the university this year are excluded, the institution to date has raised more than $29.4 million. Additional fundraising highlights include a 31% increase in the number of donors compared to the last fiscal year and a historic number of major gifts of $100,000 and above.

Trustee Addicott additionally noted that following the fundraising and campaign update, Vice President Vargo shared programming and outreach highlights. The Flash Tales initiative helped to collect more than 7,600 stories from alumni that would be used. Additional programming highlights included an emotional moving event titled Words, Sounds and Power Poem for the Living where Professor and Interim Director of Africana Studies, Mwatabu Okanta shared his work; The KSU Pittsburgh Penguins Day, which sold out and hosted 138 1st time attendees; and the partnership with Team Lebron at the N.B.A. All Star Game to provide support to the Kent State's IPromise Scholars program, which resulted in more than $526,000 in new support.

Finally, she said that Vice President Vargo shared information about the groundbreaking ceremony for the Crawford Hall, which would be held that day at 2:00 p.m. The groundbreaking ceremony will be followed by the inaugural Aspire Entrepreneurship Workshop featuring Ambassador Edward Crawford. She hoped those present could attend both of these events. Trustee Addicott then thanked Vice President Vargo for her update and both President Diacon and Vice President Vargo for building such excitement among the university's alumni and donors.

Next Trustee Addicott stated that Executive Director of Government and Community Relations Nick Gattozzi had presented legislative updates. He gave updates on the state's redistricting process and other proposed bills affecting higher education, she said.

She further reported that Director of Athletics Randale Richmond had shared several recent highlights for Intercollegiate Athletics with his always inspiring and great passion. With that, Trustee Addicott concluded her report on behalf of the External Relations and Philanthropy Committee. As you can we had so much to report, there was so much to celebrate as we continue to engage successfully with our stakeholders in support of Kent State's remarkable students.

Hearing no objections or requests, the resolutions were added to the consent agenda.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE AND STUDENT SUCCESS COMMITTEE

Chair Riley then called on Committee Chair Trustee Robert Frost to present the report of the Academic Excellence and Student Success Committee. Trustee Frost, who was attending the Board business meeting electronically, began by stating that he wished he could be there in person for the meeting as well as for the groundbreaking and what would prove to be some wonderful conversation with members of our research faculty at lunch.
He then began his report by noting that the Academic Excellence and Student Success Committee met on February 28, 2022. The committee had a list of nine action items, all of which were recommended for inclusion on the consent agenda, he said.

CONFERRAL OF DEGREES, FALL 2021

He stated that in addition to the academic personnel actions which were discussed and recommended for inclusion on the consent agenda, the committee recommended the conferring of 3,159 degrees in Fall 2021 for approval by the Board.

Resolution 2022-8

CONFERRAL OF DEGREES FALL 2021

ENDORSEMENT OF UNIVERSITY RESPONSE TO STATE BUDGET LEGISLATION RELATED TO REMEDIATION OF STUDENTS

Trustee Frost next recommended endorsement of the university’s latest response to state budget legislation related to remediation of students. This is the fifth annual remediation report presented to the Board for its endorsement and submission to the Chancellor of Higher Education. He shared that since the original report submitted in 2017, Kent State has dramatically reduced the number of students enrolled in remedial courses through modifying approaches to include different pathways for incoming freshmen specific to their majors. Since 2017 there have been decreases of 58.4% and 53.9%, respectively, on Kent and Regional campuses in the number of students enrolled in remedial courses, he said.
Resolution 2022-16

ENDORSEMENT OF UNIVERSITY RESPONSE TO STATE BUDGET LEGISLATION RELATED TO REMEDIATION OF STUDENTS

WHEREAS, Kent State University is committed to advancing student success while keeping true to its mission of providing an accessible education for the citizens of Ohio and beyond; and

WHEREAS, throughout the State of Ohio budget deliberations for fiscal years 2018 through 2022, policymakers and university leaders alike were committed to assisting Ohio students and families in accessing a college education; and

WHEREAS, the Ohio General Assembly ultimately passed House Bill 49 that requires the boards of trustees of public universities to issue a report regarding the remediation of students and submit it yearly to the Chancellor of the Ohio Department of Higher Education and Superintendent of Public Instruction; and

WHEREAS, consistent with that requirement, the university administration has conducted a yearly review of remediation of students; and

WHEREAS, results of this review indicate a significant decline in the number of Kent State freshmen placed into remedial coursework, resulting in a reduction of costs of remedial coursework to the university, students, and the State of Ohio; and

WHEREAS, the 2021 University Remediation Report carries the endorsement of the President and the Provost; now, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Kent State University Board of Trustees hereby endorses the 2021 University Remediation Report and its submission to the Chancellor of the Ohio Department of Higher Education and the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

All management decision items were recommended for inclusion on the consent agenda.

Additionally, Trustee Frost shared two informational reports to the committee. Senior Vice President Lamar Hilton informed trustees that the policy, 3342-4-02.101 Operational Definitions and Information Regarding Regulations for Student Behavior and Administration of Conduct, was revised to include information on the updated student hazing policy for consistency.

Interim Vice President Sean Broghammer presented an update to the committee on the enrollment application cycle as well as early Fall 2022 enrollment observations, said Trustee Frost. He highlighted Future Flash Days, university scholarships and financial aid transfer initiatives, graduate applications, and continuing student enrollment. Interim VP Broghammer also shared an example of a personalized narrated video students received when admitted to Kent State that helps families understand the financial aid availability for their students. These narrated videos set Kent State apart from other institutions that generally send financial aid packages via email or letter, he noted.

Trustee Frost went on to comment that he had the opportunity in the previous couple of months to spend time with Dr. Neil Cooper, director of the School of Peace and Conflict Studies, and the co-founders of the school’s Growing Democracy Program, Dr. Casey Boyd-Swan and Dr. Ashley Nickels. He said that at this moment in history with what is going on in Ukraine, Kent State really has a unique and tremendous resource here in the School of Peace and Conflict Studies. He observed they do not get mentioned enough in these meetings and thanked them for their leadership.

With that Trustee Frost concluded his report of the Academic Excellence and Student Success Committee.

Hearing no objections or requests, the resolutions were added to the consent agenda.

AUDIT AND COMPLIANCE COMMITTEE

Chair Riley then called on Committee Chair Trustee Donald Mason to present the report of the Audit and Compliance Committee. Trustee Mason stated that the members of the Audit and Compliance Committee met electronically with the university’s leadership on March 2, 2022. He said that Senior Vice President Polatajko opened the meeting with an update on the fiscal year 2021 financial statements audit. The NCAA Audit with athletics and the WKSU audit were completed with no issues reported, he said. Trustee Mason further noted that the reports were sent to the Auditor of State who approved and issued the reports in January. In December guidelines were released by the federal agencies pertaining to the single audit of federal expenditures. The required reporting had been completed and submitted to the Auditor of State; no issues or concerns were reported, he said.

He then reported that Director of Internal Audit Sarah Gampo provided the committee with a summary of the second quarter fiscal year 2022 internal audit plan as well as in-process, active, and completed activities. There were no unusual items to report, he noted. She indicated that the department’s student employee, who was assisting with p-card testing, had taken another position enhancing her education. A new student had been hired for the Spring 2022 semester and would assist in this area. Ms. Gampo also shared an update on the KSU reporting line for fraud and fiscal abuse. Reports can be made anonymously using EthicsPoint or by contacting the Auditor of State. Information on the reporting line and how to make a report can be found on the Internal Audit website, he stated.

Trustee Mason then presented that lastly, Dr. Hylton and Tiffany Murray, director of gender equity and title IX coordinator, provided a presentation on the university’s compliance with requirements of Title IX.

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Kent State University Board of Trustees hereby approves the attached schedule of proposed fee changes to be effective for the 2022-2023 academic year.
Next, Trustee Perry presented the request for approval of special surcharge rates for participation in three new international partnerships. Kent State University had proposed partnership with the Ministry of Defence of Rwanda and the State of Andhra Pradesh in India to develop a pipeline of sponsored students from these countries. The third partnership would bring students from the Nile University of Egypt. These partnerships are critical to maintaining Kent State’s high level of global engagement and they contribute to the diversity of our international student population, he said. WHEREAS, Kent State University has completed its Gateway to a Distinctive Kent State master plan; and

WHEREAS, certain real estate parcels have been identified as surplus real estate assets by the university and are available for disposition; and

WHEREAS, at its December 5, 2018, meeting, the Board of Trustees authorized the marketing and sale of the surplus parcels; and

WHEREAS, the Ohio General Assembly authorized the sale of the parcels in legislation passed on July 18, 2019; and

WHEREAS, Kent State University has received an offer to purchase 42.95 acres of vacant land identified as Portage County Permanent Parcel Nos. 04-005-00-00-035-001, 04-014-00-00-019-000, and 04-014-00-00-028-000 at fair market value; now, therefore,

Trustee Perry then shared that Dr. Polatajko provided the committee with an update on the university's fiscal year 2022 budget performance to date. He also provided a review of the planning process underway for the fiscal year 2023 budget and a summary of the pandemic relief funds and how the university has utilized those funds. Lastly, the committee was presented with informational items routinely provided to the Board for its review and consideration.

This concluded Trustee Perry’s report of the Finance and Administration Committee.

Chair Riley thanked Trustee Perry and the Finance and Administration Committee stating that the members had been very busy and their time given was appreciated.

He then asked whether any trustees wished to remove any of the proposed resolutions from the consent agenda for further discussion. Hearing none, the resolutions were added to the consent agenda by general consent.

Chair Riley asked for a motion to approve the consent agenda, which included the personnel actions and recommendations from the standing committees.

ACTION: Trustee Mason moved, seconded by Trustee Addicott, that the motion be approved. There were no objections. Vice President Reed took a roll call vote of the membership. By virtue of a unanimous roll call vote, the motion passed.

The consent agenda was approved.

NEW BUSINESS

Next, Chair Riley moved to new business stating that there were three items of new business brought before the Board.

AWARD OF UNIVERSITY MEDALLION TO THE RISMAN FAMILY

First, he said that there was a recommendation from President Diacan that the Board of Trustees honor an extraordinary family that has made an indelible mark on Kent State University. He then called on Trustee Addicott to present the resolution.

Resolution 2022-27

Chair Riley asked for a motion to approve the resolution.

ACTION: Trustee Womer Benjamin moved, seconded by Trustee Bobst, that the motion be approved. There were no objections. Vice President Reed took a roll call vote of the membership. By virtue of a unanimous roll call vote, the motion passed.

RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION TO DYLAN MACE

Chair Riley remarked that the next item of new business was the opportunity to express appreciation to one of the Board’s colleagues whose term would be ending far too quickly, on May 16, 2022. He then called on Trustee Haley Crews to present the resolution honoring Undergraduate Student Trustee Dylan Mace.

Resolution 2022-28

RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION TO DYLAN MACE

WHEREAS, Dylan Mace was appointed to the Kent State University Board of Trustees by Governor Mike DeWine on July 27, 2020; and

WHEREAS, Trustee Mace has served as a member of the Board’s Academic Excellence and Student Success Committee, Finance and Administration Committee, Audit and Compliance Committee, External Relations and Philanthropy Committee, and Investment Committee; and

WHEREAS, along with fulfilling his responsibilities as Undergraduate Student Trustee, he has excelled in his studies and will earn his bachelor’s degree in Finance, with a minor in Data Analytics and Computer Science, with high honors in May 2022; and

WHEREAS, Trustee Mace is respected by his Board colleagues as a highly motivated, insightful leader who participates effectively in all aspects of the trustee role; and

WHEREAS, his Board term will expire on May 16, 2022; now, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Kent State University Board of Trustees expresses deep gratitude to Dylan Mace for his outstanding service and wishes him the very best in his future pursuits.

Chair Riley asked for a motion to approve the resolution.
ACTION: Trustee Womer Benjamin moved, seconded by Trustee Bobst, that the motion be approved. There were no objections. Vice President Reed took a roll call vote of the membership. By virtue of a unanimous roll call vote, the motion passed.

President Diacon presented Trustee Mace with items of appreciation. He went on to say that earlier that day both former Vice President DiCorleto and Interim Vice President Delahanty discussed the importance of undergraduate students and research. It is imperative that the university walk the walk, and not just talk the talk, of placing Students First as our top strategic priority. As an undergraduate student member of the Board, Trustee Mace is a valued voice, he said, recalling the old advertising tagline, “When E. F. Hutton speaks, people listen.” When Dylan Mace speaks, trustees listen, he said. Trustee Mace has been such an effective voice for the students and President Diacon always appreciates his wise counsel. He wished Trustee Mace all the best and expressed confidence that he would go on and do great things in life.

Trustee Mace thanked everybody present, stating that he was honored to serve as the undergraduate student trustee for the place that he has called home for the past four years. He said that he is from only about an hour away, but considers Kent State a separate home, a community that accepted him and that he has been able to grow in, and for that he was very thankful. He shared that he submitted the application for the trustee position on March 4, 2020, and about one week later he received an email from President Diacon sending him home due to the COVID-19 pandemic. His undergraduate student life came to a screeching halt for a little bit, he said. Trustee Mace then fast-forwarded to September 2020, which was his first Board meeting as the undergraduate student trustee. He found out that Kent State did not stop working during those previous few months; in fact, the university worked even harder to ensure the success of the students. That led into his whole experience of what the Board of Trustees meetings consist of and the flow of great information for this university. He noted that during his tenure the Board had seen the groundbreaking for the aeronautics extension and later that day would see the groundbreaking for the Ambassador Crawford College of Business and Entrepreneurship; the delivery of balanced budget, new institutes, and new degrees; and every three months President Diacon announced a new award or recognition at each of the Board meetings. It really shows the hard work of the faculty, staff, and all the administration here at Kent State and the Board of Trustees. They really do put students first and it is a place that he was happy to have attended and happy to soon call himself an alumnus, he noted. Trustee Mace further remarked that overall, serving as a trustee had been a great learning experience and this opportunity is one that most people do not get so early in their career. He had learned professionalism from all present, and so much more about higher education than he ever thought he would learn in college. He probably could go around the room and say at least one thing each of his fellow trustees had taught him. He was excited for the future of Kent State, excited to get the emails and the alumni newsletters, and excited to visit back. He thanked everyone for the opportunity and declared, Go Flashes!

RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION TO VIRGINIA ADDICOTT

Chair Riley then moved on to a resolution of appreciation recognizing Trustee Virginia Addicott, whose term also was expiring. He called on Trustee Volpe, a fellow FedEx alum and Golden Flash, to present the resolution honoring Trustee Addicott.
Resolution 2022-29

RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION TO VIRGINIA ADDICOTT

WHEREAS, Virginia Addicott was appointed to the Kent State University Board of Trustees by Governor John Kasich on August 21, 2013; and

WHEREAS, Trustee Addicott has given superb service as the Board’s vice chair, secretary, chair of the External Relations and Philanthropy Committee, chair of the Nominating and Governance Committee, chair of the Compensation Committee, board representative to the Kent State University Foundation Board of Directors, and as a member of the Academic Excellence and Student Success Committee, the Audit and Compliance Committee, and the Finance and Administration Committee; and

Diacon as the 13th president of Kent State University; and

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Kent State University Board of Trustees expresses its deep appreciation to Virginia Addicott for her distinguished stewardship; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that because of her deep commitment and contributions to the advancement of Kent State, Trustee Addicott is hereby designated Trustee Emeritus of Kent State University with all the rights and privileges pertaining thereto.

Chair Riley asked for a motion to approve the resolution.
ACTION: Trustee Bobst moved, seconded by Trustee Perry, that the motion be approved. There were no objections. Vice President Reed took a roll call vote of the membership. By virtue of a unanimous roll call vote, the motion passed.

President Diacon presented Trustee Addicott with items of appreciation. He then remarked with Trustee Addicott, the university had a FedEx executive who for most of her time on the Kent State Board of Trustees was working full time in capacity of chief executive, literally jetting around the world and yet carving out time to participate in the Board’s business and committee meetings and most importantly, chairing committees and giving the university leadership good advice. Trustee Addicott always excelled at walking that really important line where she gave her best advice based on her experience. He also commented that she always encouraged the university to do well by its employees and the leadership team appreciated that advice and wise counsel. In short, in nine years she made Kent State University better, so thank you very much, he concluded.

Trustee Addicott said while she could not believe her term was over, nine years is a long time. She has seen three presidents during her term. She recalled it was funny because President Lester Lefton would meet with her annually asking her if she wanted to join the Board of Trustees and she would say that the nine-year term sounded like a long time. Finally, she said yes and then came to one meeting and he informed her that he was retiring! She said her tenure has been a great run and she has been very honored to be involved in the evolution of Kent State. She is a two-time graduate, but it has been wonderful to be on the other side of the table, to see how the university runs, the challenges it faces and above everything else, she thinks she has been most impressed with the ongoing focus on student success, graduation, and student access. She said she is very interested in seeing people who may not be from a home maybe where college has been in their past, but will be in their future, or maybe where the money for college costs has not been so readily available. Kent State has put so much effort into having funds available to students so that people can make that change in their life. Getting an education is one of the greatest changes anybody can make in their life, she said. She remarked that this is why she really loves what Vice President Vargo and her team are doing now around student success as the university’s top fundraising priority. She commended Vice President Vargo for bringing so much process and focus to the Foundation that she has agreed to continue to serve on its Board of Directors after her term ends with this board. In closing, she noted she was very proud to be associated with Kent State in all facets and certainly will be a Golden Flash forever.

ADJOURNMENT

Chair Riley announced that the next regular meeting of the Board of Trustees was scheduled for Wednesday, May 25, 2022.

On motion duly noted, the meeting adjourned at 12:35 p.m.
