Other Notes/Comments
Our full Fall Semester runs from late September through the first week of February. However, Fall semester students have the option to take what we call “Early Assessment” which means that they finish up their Fall semester course work by the 24th of December. In this way, they can be home for Spring semester in some countries such as the US. Those students will have exams, assignments and so on completed when they leave Japan, so they will not be asked to take their final exams from their home countries.
