

Sandy's

SCRAPBOOK

In an era before social media, Sandy Scheuer chronicled her life in the pages of her scrapbooks. Her candid photographs, personal letters, and lovingly selected mementos, paint a story full of friendship, family, and adventure. They are the inspiration for this exhibit. The colors, flowers, artifacts, and inscriptions all mirror her own selections.

She was an extremely kind person always willing to help anyone in trouble. She was a perfect listener, her advice greatly respected ... Sandy was my friend. I am a very fortunate boy.

—Marty Levick

Sandy was such a wonderful person. She always wanted to help others, and always did. Knowing Sandy has been a significant part of my education at Kent, she made me think, but most of all to be sensitive to others.

—Linda Coats

To begin to describe what a beautiful person Sandy was would take forever, but there is one thing I want people to know about her which is that Sandy was not a reactionary student and was not involved in the demonstrations at Kent State. Sandy was not the type to cause or incite such events, but rather she always spread joy, happiness and laughter in people's hearts wherever she went. She was the ultimate of life, especially of my life.

World's Greatest Dad

Dear Sandy,
Today daddy went and got a massage here and drank some of the mineral water. He said that it tasted horrible. This is supposed to be a health resort. While daddy was gone I went to get my hair done & it did not come out good & the girl could not speak a word of English. So I pointed to my hair & said the same as before. This afternoon we went shopping in the village & I bought Audrey an antique vase made in Holland - blue & white. Tomorrow morning we are leaving for Germany. Everyone has a dashund here. I saw so many that looked like my dog. What's about all I know, will write you from Germany. Best regards to all. Love & kisses

Dear Sandra Lee,
I'm sorry I missed you. I didn't come home until Monday night. Mom was worried about me. I didn't call her because I was too stingy to waste 60¢.
Can't wait till I see all my friends in the apartment. When are you coming to visit me? How's your boyfriend doing? Maybe he'll drive you to Pittsburgh if he ever goes home.
Mom & Dad's 26th anniversary is Sunday, May 4. Jay and I are giving her a towel set we got for a present. It's kinda pretty - 2 towels, 2 wash rags, 1 hand towel with yellow and orange flowers.
I never see Alice anymore.
School is bad! Don't ever take two English literature classes at once. When I take a test I forget which examples to use from what class. I guess you know what I mean.
When are you coming home?
Maybe Jay will drive me to Kent soon.
Sincerely,
What if you have time. Love you,
Audrey
