None
VII. New Business
   a. Name change for JFA to include staff: Suggestions have been made about including staff in the JFA. Handbook already incorporates staff in the JFA. However, an official name change would require an all faculty vote. Discussion ensued and suggestions for a different name were proposed. Dean Bielski will move forward with an all campus invitation for future JFAs.

   b. Student workers assisting faculty: Proposed by Shannon Bailey. The goal is for faculty to have a student worker (trained by Gretchen) audit their course and offer suggestions for issues (listed below) from the student’s perspective.
      i. Closed captioning
      ii. Face to face classroom tech assistance
      iii. Assisting students that are having trouble with their course (uploading files, finding files, etc.)
      iv. Remote course faculty assistance (tech related)
      v. Answering phone for Gretchen and assisting with items that they have been trained to assist with.

      Discussion ensued. The student workers if used at all, will be voluntary for the faculty and they should not be asked to be teaching assistants.

   c. Honoring judge Roger Lile: The FC passed a resolution written by Nicole Willey to honor Judge Lile. See statement below:

      The Faculty Council of Kent State University Tuscarawas wishes to honor Judge Roger Lile at his retirement after 41 continuous years of service to the Tuscarawas Branch District Board of Trustees. The faculty recognizes his tremendous impact that when he began his exemplary service to our campus and community, our campus consisted of one building; now, thanks in large part to his efforts and the efforts of the Board of Trustees, we have four buildings, including world class science and technology, business incubator, and performing arts spaces. We thank him for his service and hope to continue to honor him through our labors for this campus.

      The faculty wish to honor Judge Lile with the text above (Keiller/Willey). The motion was passed (10 – yes and 0 – no)

Faculty Senate Report for the 07/13/20 Senate meeting

Senate Chair’s remarks
The Senate Chair’s remarks focused on two major challenges we are currently facing: COVID-19 the new one that affect all of us and racism, the old one that affect specifically faculty and students of colors and that requires also our full attention.

Interim Provost’s remarks
The Interim Provost thanked the Faculty for their capability to swiftly adapt to the huge challenged caused by COVID-19 and that forced the Faculty to shift from face-to-face instruction delivery mode to remote teaching in a record time. The Provost recognized that Fall 2020 would constitute a challenge to everyone but insisted that the Faculty would be able to apply their academic freedom by choosing how they would go about Fall 2020. She said that communication with students would be key to avoid unnecessary additional stress. She insisted that Faculty must respect the schedule set by their respective academic units and that remote instruction was not online instruction. She stressed on the importance to provide a flexibility and understanding toward our student. She also mentioned that it was in the plan of the university to provide to each instructor some personal equipment. No share!
The Provost also said that students are required to wear a face cover at all time while in a classroom. Finally, the Provost informed the senate that all classroom would be equipped with technology for all students to have access to the material remotely.

COVID-19 update
Chris Woolverton, as member of the COVID-19 Committee gave an update on the overall COVID-19 from a molecular epidemiology perspective. He said that COVID-19 was a RNA virus with a proofreading activity which means that when the virus copies its genetic information, the machinery responsible for that task is able to correct mistakes which limits the frequency of mutations. This is particularly good news from the perspective of the development of a vaccine that is very likely to be stable.

Enrollment update
The VP for enrollment said that the enrollment is up and down and that there was 6.5% decline enrollment overall throughout the university at the time of the senate meeting. The enrollment was 4.9% down for the Kent campus while it was down 10% at regional campuses. She said that CCP students will probably close some gaps as enrollment occurs. She said that retention increased in spite of the COVID-19 situation.
For international students, while they are being admitted by KSU, the challenge to secure US visa remains a major hurdle.

VP for Financial update
The VP for financial affairs said that the university is planning for the worst and work for the best.

Dr. Jean Engohang-Ndong, Senator
KSU Tusc Rep.
